Attorneys Share Solutions to Zoning Challenges at Zoning and Land Use Seminar

SYRACUSE, February 12, 2009 —Attorneys from Gilberti Stinziano Heintz & Smith, P.C. presented “Practical Guide to Zoning and Land Use Law” on Tuesday in Syracuse and Wednesday in Rochester. Sponsored by National Business Institute (NBI), the seminar, designed to inform attorneys, city and urban planners, developers, engineers, architects, appraisers, surveyors, and local zoning and land use officials about navigating the zoning process with an in-depth understanding of zoning regulations, took place at Sheraton Syracuse University and the Hyatt Regency Rochester.

Kevin Brown, Michael Fogel, Laurel Eveleigh and Paul Sharlow shared their knowledge of key components of the approval process, Constitutional limitations on zoning actions, challenging a rezoning decision, and adoption and amendment of zoning ordinance and map with seminar participants from around the state. All four attorneys practice from the firm’s Syracuse office.

Gilberti Stinziano Heintz & Smith, P.C. provides legal services to all sectors of business and industry, government, financial institutions and large global entities.
